

REHEARSAL REPORT

Production: Tick, Tick...Boom!
 Date: Wednesday, October 1st, 2025
 Stage Manager: Morgan Millard
 Assistant Stage Manager: Leah Costello
 Guests: Breedlove, Logan, Glazer, Kolbe, Mohlman
 Call Began: 6:30pm Breaks: 7:40 (5), 8:47 (5) Ended: 9:30pm
 Late: _____ Absent: _____

| Rehearsal Breakdown |                                                                                 |              |
|---------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Time                | What                                                                            | Who          |
| 6:30 – 7:40pm       | Designer Presentations: Lighting, Costumes & Scenic;Dramaturgy Presentation | Full Company |
| 7:45 – 9:30pm       | Run All Music In Show Order & Review/Clean As Needed                            |              |

| Next Rehearsal:Thursday, October 2 nd |                                                 |              |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Time                                                 | What                                            | Who          |
| 6:30 – 9:30pm                                        | Read/Sing-Through; Review/Clean Music As Needed | Full Company |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Director/Admin:No Notes Tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Music Director:No Notes Tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Scenic/Technical Direction:Thank you for your presentation tonight!                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Costumes:Thank you for your presentation tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Props:No Notes Tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Lights:Thank you for your presentation tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Sound:No Notes Tonight!                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Dramaturgy:Thank you for your presentation tonight!1. Did Johnathan Larson include any musical pieces from his collections of previous writing that were not initially intended to be a part of Tick, Tick...BOOM! ? |

Miscellaneous:

Our Sunday In The Park With George viewing party is this Friday, October 3rd and everyone is welcome to come! It is still taking place during our typical rehearsal time (starting at 6:30pm) and will be in the Fred ☺

Thank You Everyone!

Morgan Millard

Stage Manager